Our approach to Security is that it starts with the Data. What is it? What is the security profile of this data? What is the impact to the Business if it is lost, made public or maliciously changed? The answers to these questions frame the security architecture and tools to be deployed. It is these answers that provide the basis for the requirements and not the latest vendor technology just released.

Hackers, intruders, whatever you call them, will exploit any and every vulnerability. How many organisations have spent millions on their point solutions only to fail to maintain their server and end user device fleet patching status and thereby leaving themselves wide open for potential attacks.

An Information Security Management System (ISMS) is an excellent framework to provide a holistic approach to securing your organisation. Respiro consultants have implemented these in many forms, including achieving ISO27001 certification.
